

A 3x2 grid of six apples, each showing a different color variation (red, yellow, green, and combinations) to illustrate the effect of the alpha channel on color rendering. The apples are arranged in two columns and three rows, with each apple in the left column having a slightly different color profile than the one in the right column of the same row. The background is a light gray with a subtle grid pattern.